FOURTH EXPECTED TO DIE; POLICE THINK ASSAILANT INSANE

Husband Turns Rage On Youngsters When Wife Evades His Blows

Kansas City, Mo., March 14—Three children were slain with an axe today, a fourth is in the hospital and is expected to die, Mrs. M. T. Gibson is in a serious condition from shock and police are holding Gibson, 35 year old garage man, who they say was responsible for the triple tragedy.

Gibson was found later at the foot of the stairs in the cellar. He had tried to rise and fell down stairs. It is believed he got his own wound when he fell on the axe.

At General hospital, it was said he was in a serious condition. Gibson, believed insane, was chasing his wife around their home in North Kansas City with an axe, according to neighbors.

As she eluded him, he crashed the axe against the skulls of the children.

LOGAN GAS COMPANY TRIES TO LEGALIZE NEW SERVICE CHARGE

Showdown Will Come April 9 On Effort To Raise Rate To 92.507 Consumers

Columbus, O., March 14—An attempt to legalize a new method of collecting a service charge is being made by the Logan Gas Company in its fight before the state utilities commission for increased natural gas rates in seventy-one Ohio communities, commission officials said today.

Balked by the commission in its first attempt to legalize a seventy-five cent service charge on each of its 92,507 customers, the Logan company now proposes to increase its rate for the first 500 feet of consumed gas from twenty-two and one half cents to twenty-five cents, an increase of seventy-two and one half cents and virtually the amount first asked by the company as a service charge. In proposing this method of obtaining additional revenues, the company is exploring new fields.

The showdown on the company's demand will come April 9 at a hearing here before the commission on the proposed new rates. The company will be required to justify the new rates, in face of the dictum of the commission handed down December 1, 1924, that the company must show the reasonableness of the proposed service charge before the commission could order it into effect.

The Logan company's fight for new rates dates back to October 15, 1924, when it filed schedules proposing the new service charge to be effective November 15, 1924. These rates were suspended and a hearing ordered January 8. The hearing was never concluded for the company voluntarily withdrew its proposed service charge schedule.

The fight was renewed February 7 when the company filed a proposed new schedule of rates, to be effective March 7. These rates were unique. The original rate had been forty-eight cents per 1,000 cubic feet on the first 5,000 feet of gas consumed. The company proposed to split this rate and to charge ninety-five cents for the first 500 cubic feet—an increase of seventy-two and one half cents over the old rate of twenty-two and one half cents, with discount allowed—and forty-eight cents per 1,000 for the next 4,500 feet.

Protests were at once filed with the commission against this new method of obtaining service charge, the fight being led by former State Senator Burke of Elyria and continued by him at first almost single handed. The cities of Elyria, Bucyrus and Athens filed protests March 6 and Governor Donahey filed a general protest March 7. Acting on these protests the commission suspended the rates for 120 days from February 7, and ordering the general hearing.

There the case will rest until the hearing April 9.

The burden of proof rests, on the Logan company to justify the proposed increased rates. The company in earlier proceedings, has not attempted to show reasonableness of the rates.

CLIMAX REACHED IN COOLIDGE WARFARE OVER NAMING WARREN

Administration Leaders Will Stick But See No Chance For Victory.

Washington, March 14—President Coolidge's dramatic warfare with the new senate came to a climax today when the appointment of Charles B. Warren as attorney general again came before that body for confirmation.

All surface indications pointed to a second defeat for the president. Polls taken by administration forces, by the coalition forces opposed to Warren and by non-partisan observers varied only in the number of votes by which the Detroit attorney will be turned down.

Administration leaders who were in conference until late last night, simply shook their heads today in resignation and prepared to vote for Warren in compliance with Mr. Coolidge's wishes. None of them, however, professed to see any chance for victory.

Rumors were current when the senate convened this morning that President Coolidge will give Mr. Warren a recess appointment if he is again rejected. This could not be confirmed at the White House. It was said the president hoped this would not be necessary.

Republican senators strongly advised the president against a recess appointment. They pointed out that not only would Mr. Warren have to serve several months without pay, but that the senate inevitably would have to vote again next December on him. It is not reasonable to assume, they said, that after twice rejecting the appointment the senate would confirm it next December.

The defense of Warren's record was allotted today to Senators Butler of Massachusetts and Cummins of Iowa. Both were in conference with Mr. Coolidge until a late hour last night. The opposition again was in the hands of Senators Walsh, Democrat of Montana, and Reed, Democrat, of Missouri.

One Juror Blocks Verdict

Hillsboro, O., March 14—"Dapper Dan" Boggs, 21 goes to the penitentiary for life for the murder of Harry T. Magill, 30, deputy surveyor of Highland county, December 20, 1924.

"Lady Luck," whom the Boggs brothers are betting on to free them in the long run, Saturday smiled slightly at Dan, for the jurors declaring him guilty of first degree murder, recommended mercy.

That saves Dan from the electric chair.

Hillsboro, O., March 14—One lone man was holding out Saturday against his eleven fellow jurors in the case of Dan Boggs, 21, accused of murdering Harry T. Magill, deputy surveyor of Highland County. The jury has now been out two days.

Fred Hussey, the juror, stood up in the box late Friday and said he had been unable to reach a decision because he had not been able to agree with the others over the significance of certain testimony.

He did not say what this evidence was. John Boggs, 24, brother of Dan, also indicted on the charge of first degree murder in the same case, will be tried Monday.

New Antiseptic

Dr. Veador Leonard, of the Johns Hopkins Medical School and Hospital, at Baltimore, Md., has discovered a new germicide which he calls hexyl-resorcinol and which is said to be fifty times stronger than carbolic acid. Dr. Leonard's antiseptic differs from carbolic acid in that it is non-poisonous and may be taken internally, thus furnishing a combative to disease germs in the kidneys and intestinal tract.

SENATE AROUSED BY ASSESSMENT OF TAX ON SENATOR COUZENS

Many Senators Offer Aid to Committee Head—Kentuckian Defends Mellon.

Washington, March 14—The acrimonious row between Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan and treasury department, broke out on the floor of the senate today.

Vigorously defending Secretary Mellon, Senator Ernst, of Kentucky, a member of the committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue, assailed Couzens' charges that he was being "punished" by the treasury because of his persecution of the inquiry. Ernst charged that Couzens was "posing as a martyr."

"The action by the department in regard to Senator Couzens has been followed in thousands of other cases, and it has worked no hardships on the taxpayer," declared Ernst, who said that if Couzens had signed the waiver, setting aside the statute of limitations "there would not have been this trouble, and no assessment would have been levied."

Washington, March 14—A wave of resentment swept over the senate today at the treasury department's action in levying an additional assessment of nearly $11,000,000 against the 1919 income of Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan.

Couzens, chairman of the special committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue, charged that the levy was in retaliation for his prosecution of the inquiry into the treasury's tax settlement and adjustments.

The senate gave evidence of its support of Couzens by the number of offers of assistance that poured in on him from all sides.

One came from Senator Dupont, Republican of Delaware, multi-millionaire powder king, who volunteered to go the entire bond. Another was from Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, who offered to join a pool of senators to raise the bond.

Under treasury rules, Couzens must put up bond equal to the assessment of $10,861,131 before he can appeal the case, which he announced he would fight to the limit. To get the money from a bonding company would cost $55,000, Couzens said, and he would be unable to get the cost back even if he won the appeal.

The senate was aroused that one of its members should be forced to pay $55,000 for the privilege of appealing an assessment of more than $10,000,000.

Colder weather was forecast tonight for the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region and the interior of the middle Atlantic states.

It will be colder on Sunday in the Atlantic States. There will be rain tonight in the Atlantic States.

OFFICERS FACE MYSTERY IN SEEKING SOLUTION OF MEDINA ARSENIC DEATHS

Report of Chemist That Coffee Did Not Contain Poison, Baffles Authorities—Death of Sister of Victim Also Blamed On Poison.

Medina, O., March 14—Faced with the probability that three members of the Glenke family had been victims of a poison fiend, while Miss Marie Glenke was fighting for her life in an Elyria hospital, Prosecutor Joseph A. Seymour and Sheriff Fred Roshon admitted today that they were confronted with an almost impenetrable mystery in solving the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glenke of Valley City and Glenke's sister, Mrs. Sophia Hazel.

Mrs. Glenke died January 3, after suffering great pain for three days while other members of the family became ill, following New Year's dinner at the home.

The death was at first attributed to ptomaine poison and believed to have been accidental. Glenke died February 8, in Memorial hospital Elyria, where two of his children now lie in a critical condition from arsenic poisoning.

Mrs. Hazel died early in December but her death, until today had been attributed to natural causes.

Seymour admitted today that while he believed the poison had been administered with murderous intent, he was without a clue to the identity of the poisoner.

Yesterday City Chemist E. G. Curtis, of Elyria, reported to him that samples of coffee submitted to him for analysis contained no foreign substance and at the same time physicians attending Marie Glenke, 18, and her brother, Rudolph, 17, said that blood tests revealed they were suffering from arsenic poison apparently administered over a long period of time.

Seymour said today he possessed a new clue that looked "promising" but declined to reveal its nature until he made a more complete investigation.

Columbus, O., March 14—Governor Donahey today signed the Collister city home rule motor bus bill, giving cities power to regulate bus lines operating in or between cities or contiguous municipalities.

The bill was one of the two most hotly fought measures before the present legislature. Although passed without serious opposition by the senate, it struck repeated snags in the house, being defeated once, only to be revived and passed after a week's delay.

The measure was also bitterly fought at a hearing yesterday before the governor, chiefly by interurban motor bus interests.

The bill prohibits bus lines from carrying passengers whose complete ride is wholly within a city or contiguous municipality, such as a suburb, without the consent of local authorities, and thus bars bus lines from carrying "local" passengers.

The measure now goes to the secretary of state and will become effective in ninety days.

WALTER CAMP FOUND DEAD IN BED IN NEW YORK; HEART ATTACK

Eminent Sport Authority And Football Dean Dies Suddenly Saturday...

New York, March 14—Walter Camp, head advising football coach of Yale University was found dead in his bed today in the Belmont Hotel.

He died during the night of a heart attack.

His death was discovered when he failed to appear for a meeting of the intercollegiate football rules committee meeting in the hotel.

W. W. Roper of Philadelphia and a doctor, went to Camp's room and found the body. Camp was beyond sixty years of age and appeared to all who saw him last night, in good health.

Friends here said the funeral would be conducted in New Haven, Conn., within a few days but had made no further arrangements. The body probably will be sent this evening to New Haven.

Camp was considered by many, the greatest authority on football in the United States. Players selected on his all-American teams considered themselves signally honored.

Camp also was an author of note, his literary efforts including fiction, books and magazine articles on sports and writings on physical culture. His pamphlet, "Walter Camp's Daily Dozen," gained wide circulation. Camp's first interest always was in the gridiron prowess of Yale, his alma mater. After retiring as coach he still remained in close touch with the development of Yale eleven and returned each season to help whip the team into shape for crucial games.

One of his best books was entitled: "Yale, her campus, classroom and athletics."

Camp was born in New Haven on April 7, 1859. He was graduated from Yale in 1880.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN GUN BATTLE BREAKS UP POLITICAL MEET

Twenty-Four Others Injured, Six Believed Fatally, At Communist Gathering

Halle, Germany, March 14—A communist pre-election meeting that developed into a gun battle when police broke it up today resulted in the killing of seven persons and the wounding of twenty-four. Six of the injured, four of them policemen, suffered wounds that doctors said doubtless would prove fatal. The communists were meeting in preparation for the coming presidential campaign.

Thousands jammed the meeting hall where Ernest Thaelmann, communist candidate for president, and other speakers delivered inflammatory speeches. The police had permitted the meeting only on condition that two English and one French communists, who had been scheduled to make addresses, would not be permitted to speak.

The trouble started when one of the English Reds started to deliver an oration despite the police injunction. A police officer attempted to interrupt him, but failed. He summoned a squad of policemen. When the police entered the hall they were hooted and jeered. Many of the Reds swung their chairs at the officers.

At the height of the rioting, shots were fired from the gallery. The police returned the fire and the disorders became widespread. The outbreak was finally quelled.

Police estimate that four thousand communists participated in the outbreak.

Halle is an industrial city and a hotbed of communism in Germany. This city has often been the zone of bloody class war. After the revolution, the tide of bolshevism here was stemmed only by the genius of the leadership of the late President Ebert.

CAMP DEAD

Walter Camp, leading sportsman and sport writer, an almost eminent authority on American football, was found dead in his room in a New York Hotel. Death was due to heart trouble.

NEW INTERNATIONAL ARMS CONFERENCE IS POSSIBLE NEXT FALL

France Offers Only Opposition To Plan For Meeting In Washington This Year.

Washington, March 14—If France can be brought into line, it appeared not unlikely today that another international arms conference will be held in Washington next autumn or winter.

Great Britain is willing; Japan is willing—and President Coolidge is ready to issue the invitations at the moment there appears a reasonable chance for a successful meeting it rests with France.

Collapse of the Geneva protocol, and with it all of the league of nations' plans for disarmament, has, in President Coolidge's opinion, opened the way for the United States to take the lead in organizing another conference.

Whether French objections can be overcome remains to be seen, but administration officials declared today they were more hopeful than they have ever been that the winter will see the world powers gathered around the conference table to discuss mutual scrapping of arms.

French objections to another "American conference" have thus far been predicated upon the fact that France feels she did not get a square deal at Washington conference and upon the further fact that France would rather see another conference held under league auspices rather than American. The voice of France is a dominant one in the league, and so long as there was a possibility of the league's plans working out, France was unwilling to subscribe or encourage American enterprise in the direction of disarmament.

The league's plans have now failed and confronted with a bad financial situation at home and increasing pressure from a broad it may be that France will be willing to listen to reason" as one official put it today.

Therefore Secretary of State Kellogg may soon issue a call for a limitations conference.

This would include limitations upon aircraft and submarine in the same way that limitations were placed on capital ships. It might also include a limitation on the size of standing armies.

CHILD SCALDED

Elyria, March 14—Lester Croft, aged 2 years, was scalded about the arms and body when he was being bathed. Scalding water was poured into the tub, to make the water warmer, without first removing the baby. The youngster is recovering at Memorial Hospital.

GRANDMA HEN SHOWS YOUNG PULLETS WAY

Ironton, O., March 14—Peter L. Henry of Ironton, has a hen sixteen years of age and she is laying every day.

This hen is a full blooded brown leghorn and has averaged 137 eggs per year for fifteen years, making her a total of 2,805 eggs or about 234 dozens.

An average price of forty cents per dozen makes the value of the eggs $33.60. In addition to this Mr. Henry has averaged thirty chicks per year from the biddy and at ten cents per chick the value would be $45.00. She is boss of the henry, proud and arrogant and is producing eggs the same as when a one year old.

CROWE ORDERS PAIR HELD UPON EVIDENCE GIVEN BY SCIENTIST

Says Shepherd Studied Typhoid Germs—Witness Calls Prisoner Liar

Chicago, March 14.—Investigation into the death of William Nelson McClintock, "millionaire orphan," took another startling turn today when Mr. and Mrs. William D. Shepherd, foster-parents of young McClintock, were seized by detectives from the office of Robert E. Crowe, United States attorney.

The Shepherds were taken into custody after new charges had been made by Dr. C. C. Fairman, head of the National University of Sciences.

Face to face with Fairman, in Crowe's office, Shepherd said: "I do not know that man."

"You're a liar!" Fairman flashed back.

Throughout an hour's questioning that followed, Shepherd refused to admit any of the charges made by Dr. Fairman and he was taken to a hotel under heavy guard. Mrs. Shepherd was sent to her home in Kenilworth.

Shepherd denied he had attended bacteriology classes in the science school; that he was taught by Fairman how to use a microscope and how to identify typhoid bacilli; that he took a letter from the school files in which he made application for a course in the school, and after taking the letter, laid $50 on the table for Fairman; that he had anything to do with tubes of typhus culture, which Fairman charges were missed shortly after he quit attending class.

While Crowe has not committed himself it seemed certain, those close to the investigators said, that the evidence would be taken before the grand jury at once, possibly today. In the meantime, Crowe was to confer with Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, who came to Chicago from Springfield in response to a telephone conversation with the state's attorney.

Attempts were to be made by Edwin Hodrick, counsel for Shepherd, to free his clients on writs of habeas corpus. Hodrick accompanied Shepherd to the state attorney's office, but was refused permission to talk to him or even see him after they left the Shepherd home in Kenilworth.

When officers returned later and took Mrs. Shepherd into custody, Robert Stoll, also of counsel for Shepherd and the Rev. C. Naumann, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Evanston, accompanied her.

Throughout the grilling, Mrs. Shepherd was cool and calm as was her husband. Both refused to give out any information except to deny everything that was charged.

Detectives from the state attorney's office today were searching the city for post graduates of the Science school who were expected by the state to testify that Shepherd did attend bacteriology classes and all telephone toll calls from the Shepherd home were also being checked.

This was being done to determine whether Shepherd had any communication with Dr. Fairman, with John P. Marchand, salesman of the school, who alleged that he talked with Shepherd about taking courses in the school, with Dr. George Foberg, who said before the coroner's jury, that Shepherd paid him $50 to give him information on the effects and how to trace poisons and typhoid germs.

Marchand again identified Shepherd early today and Shepherd said: "I don't know this gentleman."

"You're a liar!"

Police exonerated Bartoe. Lawrence's parents are at his bedside.

MEN ARRESTED IN HOLD UP ATTEMPT SEEK REFUGE HERE

Three men arrested by Dayton authorities in connection with the attempted holdup of the Farmers' State Bank of Englewood, Thursday afternoon, sought temporary refuge in Xenia, Wednesday night, for an hour after stealing an automobile in Dayton, it is said.

After stealing the machine in Dayton, the trio drove to Xenia and stayed an hour before returning to Dayton, according to a confession signed by one of the men implicating his companions. They removed the license plates from the auto and threw them into a barn near the outskirts of Dayton.

After attempting the holdup later in the afternoon, which was frustrated by the ringing of a burglar alarm, the men fled.

Dayton authorities passed through Xenia on the trail of the bandits, on the tip that they were headed for Springfield.

Motorcycle Patrolman Peter Shagin stopped their machine as they were driving through at a mile-a-minute rate and was told to be on the watch for the Chrysler car.

Those arrested gave their names as Edward H. Rank, 23, 209 Bolton St., Dayton; George R. Touvel, 24, New Athens, O., and Charles Smith, 17, of 66 York Avenue, Dayton.

The favored sextet it is unnecessary to say, consists of Dazzy Vance, the league's leading pitcher; Burleigh Grimes, human salivary gland; Jack Fournier, first baseman; Zach Wheat, star outfielder; Milton Stock, who may or may not make the grade at third base and Jimmy Johnson.

Vance has been offered a three-year contract for $47,500 and intimates he might accept same if the men fled.

For the small investor, trying to get 1 1/2 percent or 2 percent extra yield from a security is as foolish as extracting gold from sea water.

For safety's sake, leave that last 1 or 1 1/2 percent of yield alone when selecting securities for purchase. Generally speaking, the percent difference between a bond yielding 6 percent and 8 percent does not nearly compensate for the loss of safety which the 2 per cent increase in yield represents.

Furthermore, on a dollars and cents basis, the extra 2 percent does not figure up to an enormous sum. If you hold as high as $10,000 worth of securities an 8 percent yield would only bring you $200 a year more than the 6 percent yield—and the 6 percent bonds would be pretty likely to keep on yielding whereas the 8's might or might not continue to pay interest.

The average small investor seldom has more than $300 to invest at one time. The difference in income per year between $300 at 6 percent and at 8 per cent is a matter of $6—two shirts and necktie. If you are in a position to take risk for high return, these statements do not apply to you, but if you feel that safety is imperative you must pay the premium for it in the shape of foregoing higher interest rates.

Your banker will verify these statements and will be glad to talk over the matter of investments with you.

MORGAN IN CHARGE OF CLARK COUNTY
FLOOD PREVENTION

Announcement was made Saturday that the first steps in the two-months' flood prevention program to be conducted in Springfield by Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College and head of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering Company, were completed.

Accompanied by George Cotto, superintendent of the Springfield water division, and an assistant, Morgan made a tour of Buck Creek valley for geological estimates and observations Wednesday afternoon.

Morgan has said that the entire project designed to protect Springfield from possible floods in the future, will consume about two months of field and laboratory work.

Field inspections of both the Mad River and Buck Creek valleys with geological determinations made in Morgan's laboratory will be included in the survey.

STATE HERDS FREE FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Columbus, Ohio, March 14.—State institutional dairy herds are so free from tuberculosis cattle that they supply what is probably the best milk in the state, Dr. David Hyde, assistant state veterinarian, declared today.

His statement was issued to allay fears expressed widely among legislators today that tests conducted on cattle from Fairmount Children's Home, Alliance, showing wide prevalence of bovine tuberculosis might indicate a similar condition among other institutional dairy herds throughout the state.

squire will strike out the ten day clause. It doesn't seem to have occurred to Dazzy that he might do well to sign before the squire thinks better of it.

Grimes, they say, has been tendered a two-year contract of $14,000. He wants $15,000, or so it is alleged. He, too, seems to have forgotten Mr. Ebbets' notable lack of carelessness in money matters.

Fournier is said to have uncovered a system whereby he can eke out an existence on a two-year contract, signed in 1924 and calling for an advance of $4,000.

These are box car numbers of purse, but no one appears to be concerned about it. One and several, even down—or up, as the case may be, to Robb himself, they declare it will all come back to its natural home in Mr. Ebbets' pocket when the Dodgers win the 1925 pennant.

Yes the Dodgers have the pennant bee. They claim they will either win or the club that does will find it is being chased by Nurm. It is their idea that a team, which almost won last year in the stretch after breaking up its infield in mid-season, should come home on the bit with the cast intact over a full season. They think so well of themselves in fact that they have made few changes, except to acquire "Cotton" Tierney from Boston and permit the Washington Senators to take title to "Dutch" Reuther.

At present the infield is lining up as it finished the 1924 season, to wit: Fournier, first base; High, second base; Mitchell, shortstop and Stock, third base. If the latter doesn't hit he will be replaced without ceremony by Tierney, who is being made over into a third baseman.

Johnston is playing shortstop on the second team so that he can be moved into Johnny Mitchell's shoes in case Johnny does a flop, as more or less anticipated.

Wheat will adorn left field, Ed Brown will play center field, Porcelain arm and all, in right field, it is altogether likely the veteran Tom Griffith will be crowded to the wall by Dick Cook.

The latter hit twinty-five home runs for Portland last year and looks the part of a real ball player. Regular catchers will be Berry and Taylor as of yore.

In addition to Vance and Grimes, the pitchers will be Rube Ehrhardt, one of the National League's 1924 sensations; Dutch Henry and Nelson Green, left handers with the club last year; Osborn, ex-cub, and John H. Wingo, who once got a trial with the Senators.

Guy Cantrill from Muskogee, Jim Roberts from Little Rock and Lefty Schwartz, a semipro, are around, but it is understood that Bobbie plans to correct that feature of the situation in due time.

BERNARD MASTADEN

If your skin is of a muddy color and there are no blotches or pimples, it simply indicates that you need more rich red blood, you require more of the elements needed to give the skin that pink, healthy appearance that is so much admired by everyone.

There are two methods of treating the complexion with a view of improving its character. One method might be termed local treatment. The local treatment includes friction, massage and various means that might be adopted to accelerate the circulation to the affected parts, necessary for remedying the defects. The constitutional treatment demands the use of the various methods that can be used toward improving the quality of the blood, so that this vitality-building fluid will not only cease its efforts to eliminate impurities from the face, but will at the same time assist in carrying away the various indications of impure blood that may have been deposited there already.

Let us turn our attention to the local means of remedying these various defects. Take an ordinary pimple, for instance. The method usually followed in eliminating an eruption of this nature is to squeeze the tissue to such an extent as to force out the matter usually accumulated within it. This in many cases will remove the defect, though a large red spot often results, and in some cases the pores of the skin about the affected part are thus permanently enlarged.

Now, the best way to remove pimples and blackheads is with dry friction. To treat the face in this manner secure an ordinary complexion brush and brush the skin of the affected part up and down, back and forth, from side to side, diagonally and circularly continuing the process until the skin is very red from the acceleration of the circulation of the blood brought to the surface. Even if this treatment does not immediately eliminate all blackheads or pimples, if continued two or three days you can rest assured that the eruptions will disappear.

The skin being cleansed and improved by the friction treatment. If one has a large number of blackheads or pimples it is a good plan to steam the face. This softens it and enables one more easily to remedy the disfigurements. But use cold water after such treatment to restore normal tone to the skin structures.

SUM OF $19,703 IS RECEIVED BY CITY FROM DISTRIBUTION

An analysis of the money in taxes received by the city from the February tax distribution shows that Xenia received $19,703.67 or a rate of $3.50 on each $1,000 of worth of property for operating expenses, aside from special assessments.

This represents Xenia's share of the distribution after the amount going into the interest and sinking fund has been deducted, according to City Auditor T. H. Zell.

City taxpayers paid a tax rate of $6.37 on every $1,000 property valuation, of which $3.50 is for operating expenses.

This amount is slightly more than half or 52 per cent which will go for operating expenses alone during the year 1925. The August distribution will net the city about 48 per cent for operating expenses.

The money is distributed into four city funds for which taxes are levied, the general, service, health and safety funds. The general fund will receive $1,624.62; service, $6,339.41; health, $704.38; and the safety, $11,035.26 or more than half the total amount.

The affair was an informal dinner dance, given by Mrs. Elliott Wolvin at the Gangplank.

The setting for the party was the private dining room of the Gangplank, which is done beautifully in green and gold. The green and gold color scheme was carried out in the decorations. The dinner table was arranged in the shape of a hollow square and in the center was a gold vase filled with calla lilies, mounted on a pedestal draped with green velvet. Copper bowls filled with white spring flowers were arranged at intervals along the table and bows of tulle ribbon were draped along the edge of the table.

Place cards were photographs of Mr. Dillon and Miss Mathews with their monograms done in gold. Favors for the men were monogrammed cigarettes and match boxes.

Miss Ruth Shirley, dressed in a French costume of white satin and ostrich feathers with petals of pastel shades hanging from her waist entered the dining room and sang a number of solos. As she passed around the room, she unfasted the petals from her costume and presented one to each of the women guests. When opened these were found to contain French silk vanity bags. Miss Shirley also carried a black staff with streamers of rose buds at one end of which was an orchid ostrich feather fan. This fan she presented to Miss Mathews as her gift from the hosts.

Uses Proxy "Wife" to Win Chicago Divorce

JAMES GRIPPANDO, HELEN FREDERICK & MRS. GRIPPANDO. A.C.

One of the queerest marital tangles ever heard was aired in a Chicago divorce court before Judge Sabath. James Grippando and his wife were separated and Grippando wished to marry Helen Frederick. But Mrs. Grippando showed no desire to free him by way of the divorce court. Grippando, however, got Helen Frederick to pose as "Mrs. Grippando" and sue him for divorce, alleging desertion. In court, Helen, as "Mrs. Anna Grippando," testified that her "husband" had deserted her two years before. Grippando mounted the witness stand and admitted the charge, in the hope that the court would grant the divorce and he might marry Helen. Grippando was sentenced to 30 days and Helen Frederick to 10 days in jail for contempt of court.

PHILIPPINES LOOM BIG

How large are the Philippines?

Compared with our other insular possessions, the Philippines are 18 times as large as the Hawaiian Islands, 33 times as large as Porto Rico and nearly 1,000 times as large as the Virgin Islands. Five hundred and forty-seven islands the size of Guam could be placed in the land area of the Philippines and there would still be 130 square miles left over.

The exact land area of the Philippines Archipelago is 115,026 square miles, or very nearly the area of Italy, which is 117,982 square miles. The Islands are larger than such countries as Jugoslavia, Prussia, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom of England, Scotland and Wales. They are more than twice as large as England, four times the size of Scotland, nine times as large as Holland and ten times the size of Belgium.

The Philippines are only slightly exceeded in land area by Japan, Norway, Poland and Rumania.

Compared with our own states, the Islands equal in area all the New England States and New York. Only four states exceed them in area, Texas, California, Montana and New Mexico. They are twice as large as Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Florida or Arkansas.

Cuba, the largest of the West Indies, 750 miles long and on an average 50 miles wide, is only slightly more than one-third the size of the Philippines, which extend a maximum of 1,152 miles north and south and 682 miles east and west.

ANOTHER CLAIM SET UP

NORWAY is reported to interject another claim to the pre-Columbian discovery of America. A professor in the University of Copenhagen claims to have found evidence indicating that a Norwegian expedition in 1472 reached Labrador and probably Newfoundland and the adjacent mainland. According to the claim advanced, the King of Portugal urged King Christian I of Denmark to fit out an expedition to find a "Northwest Passage" to Asia and in pursuance of this request a ship was fitted out in a Norwegian harbor and manned by Norwegian sailors. Two Portuguese noblemen were members of the expedition.

The presumption to be drawn from this is to the effect that Columbus learned of the result of these efforts and was guided by them in his first voyage a score of years later. Granting the possibility of such knowledge having been gained by Columbus, it would seem strange that he did not follow the course mapped out by the Norse voyagers. The point at which he aimed was thousands of miles distant from any land the Norsemen could have visited, conceding all that has been claimed for their discoveries.

Were this later Norse voyage definitely established it would not serve to end the controversy which grows more complicated, various other claimants to having been the original discoverers of America having been entered in recent years. However, Columbus still retains the primacy, for he let the world know the result of his expedition.

STORING WINTER WOOLENS TOMORROW'S MENU

There are three popular methods of doing this: 1. In tar or camphor bags which are manufactured for the purpose. 2. In home-made and similarly shaped bags of newspapers with all cracks sealed with gummed paper. 3. In heavy cardboard suit boxes, with all cracks sealed with paper tape. By any of these methods the woolens are protected from outside moths. It is well to put camphor balls, cedar chips, tobacco, wisps of cotton wet with oil of cedar and tied in muslin bags, and other bundles, in the folds of the woolens, to make the work doubly safe. Another preventive measure is to hang the bundles in mid-air suspended from the ceiling, in a light, airy place.

I have received several letters from young housekeepers asking this question: "Do camphor balls and cedar chips kill moths and prevent their eggs from hatching out if already in the stored garment?"

My answer is: "No but the camphor balls and cedar chips will keep outside moths away from the stored article." Before storing your woolens, however, you should rid them of moth eggs and larvae as follows:

Brush the woolens out of doors, paying special attention to seams, pockets, the under sides of collars and other places where dust lodges, then sun and air them for several days. Next, go over them with gasoline or benzine, freshening and removing spots; these fluids do not injure color but they must be used away from heat or flame because they are extremely inflammable.

Some wool materials are not injured by being saturated with formalin; this method will absolutely kill moth eggs and larvae, so it is worth using when possible. But do not use it on the garment or blanket without first experimenting on a small sample, or inconspicuous corner of the article to learn its effect.

The next step, after brushing, sunning and cleansing the woolens in this manner is to pack them away.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during This Critical Time—Benefited Greatly

Baltimore, Maryland.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."

—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1375 N. Gilman St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

Today's Talks

AN ARTIST IN THE ART OF HAPPINESS

I have a friend who is an artist in the art of happiness, whose character is so finely wrought that all who come in contact with him at once feel with him the ecstasy of life.

What a gift! Or is it a gift? I rather think that such a character is something that comes through long cultivation like a controlled temper.

I personally know that this friend of mine has gone through great tests of soul. And every time his spirit glows afresh as though bathed anew in the sunshine.

Building a character like this is sheer art, than which there is no art greater. Not even the art of the painter, sculptor, singer, actor or writer.

Life is full of happiness. The art comes in finding it and redistributing it—in taking it into your heart as you do the air you breathe.

I have in mind two writers of great note whose personal lives were saturated with unhappiness but whose souls shone like June days when the roses are all bloom. I see the minds of these writers in movements pursuing ideals and putting flesh and blood in them. I see them rise from the mud of the swamp-like white lilies with their roots imbedded deep in that mud.

Surely the sun of the great God's love performs marvelous miracles. There is an explanation as to why some of the whitest lilies rise from the swamps and some from the green grass of meadows.

The fact that you may be discouraged is an encouragement. Remember this.

And remember that you may become a very great artist in the art of finding happiness in this world. The thing is to find the way. And there is a way. The artist finds it.

ORGANIZATION FOR PARK CAMPAIGN IS READY TO START WORK

Organization of workers for the one-day drive to be held next Thursday to finance the proposed city park, has been completed according to City Auditor T. H. Zell, president of the Xenia Recreation Association.

Miss Janice Owens, in charge of campaign headquarters, has lined up workers all over the city, to solicit for the fund. The city has been divided into eight sections, each headed by a captain, with a quota of workers under each.

Members of the general finance committee will gather at the Goody Shoppe Monday evening for a 5 o'clock supper at which reports will be given, to be followed by a meeting of all organization workers at the City Hall at 7 o'clock for a "last minute" conference.

Plans are being made to have a conference of all classes of Central High School Monday afternoon at which the park plan will be discussed. Aid of the students may be sought in assisting in the drive. A speaker will outline plans of the association at a student meeting Tuesday, it is said.

A number of voluntary pledges have already been received at the headquarters at City Hall. Mr. Zell is optimistic concerning the result of the drive. The association is seeking to raise $10,000 to beautify a ten-acre tract in the Dodds Addition donated by P. H. Flynn to the association.

DETOUR CAUSED BY REPAIRS ON PIKE

Seven miles of pike between South Charleston and London are being rebuilt into a macadam road, necessitating a detour for motorists between Xenia and Columbus, officials of the Greene County Auto Club advise.

Motorists will be required to detour by way of Washington C. H., or Springfield, either route being equally good. The road will be closed until early fall and the detour adds about six miles to a trip to Columbus from Xenia by motor.

REWARD POSTED

A standing reward of $200 has been offered by the postal department for the arrest and conviction of anyone breaking into and robbing a post office and the same offer holds for the arrest of bandits who recently escaped with thousands of dollars in stamps from the post office at Lorain, O., according to a bulletin received Thursday by Postmaster C. S. Frazer, from Cincinnati.

Activities of post office thieves have been unusually marked this year, according to the bulletin.

JOHN J. M. KENWORTHY

David Kirkwood, Socialist member of the English House of Commons for Glasgow, in a speech recently deplored "the trotting all over the world and making a clown of the Prince of Wales." His observations were part of an unprecedented attack on the Government's policy of using Wales as an ambassador on world tours. The Hon. Commander J. M. Kenworthy was one of two Liberals in the House who voted with the Laborites against the increased appropriations for the African trip of the Duke and Duchess of York, which resulted in a frank discussion of royal means in Parliament.

REPORT ERYSIPELAS HAS FOLLOWED GRIP

Dr. W. M. Hartinger, Spring Valley physician, is attending several cases of erysipelas, which in each case has followed an attack of grip or influenza.

The skin eruption has attacked the patient's face and head, and in each case the condition is extremely painful. Physicians have no fear of an epidemic of the disease but have noticed a number of the cases, resulting from grip attacks.

Held in Murder

DR. HAROLD BLAZER

Dr. Harold E. Blazer, a retired physician of Denver, Col., is being held there charged with the murder of his crippled daughter, Harel, thirty-two. Mrs. Frances Bishop, sister of the victim, testified at the coroner's inquest that the dead woman did not have sufficient strength to administer the dose of poison which is believed to have resulted in her death.

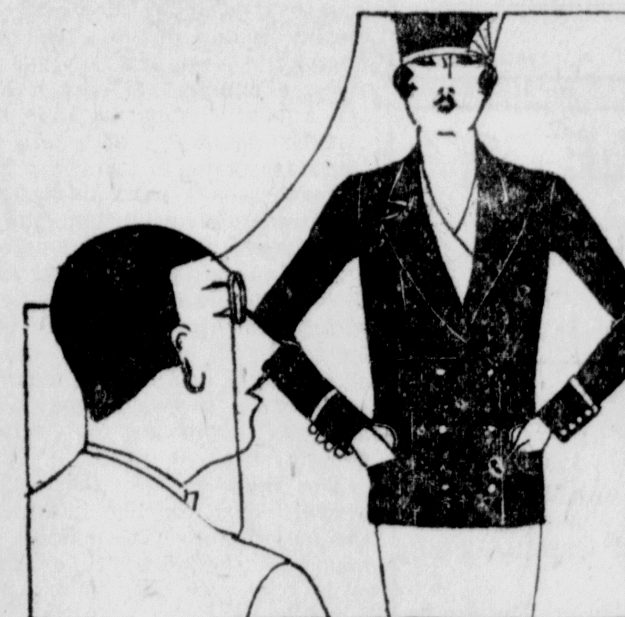

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Gets First Hand Information

By JAY V. JAY

This, of course, is our own Mitzi dressed in a simple silk frock and jolly little felt hat, telephoning the Goofer. Will he please go shopping with her? The Goofer can imagine other things more pleasant than shopping but Mitzi, after all is Mitzi. He will.

Now the secret is out. Did Mitzi ask for the Goofer's company merely for the pleasure of it? Not at all. She wants his serious consideration of new spring suits. "You see," she explains, "women's tailored wear is so masculine this season that I have to have a man's opinion."

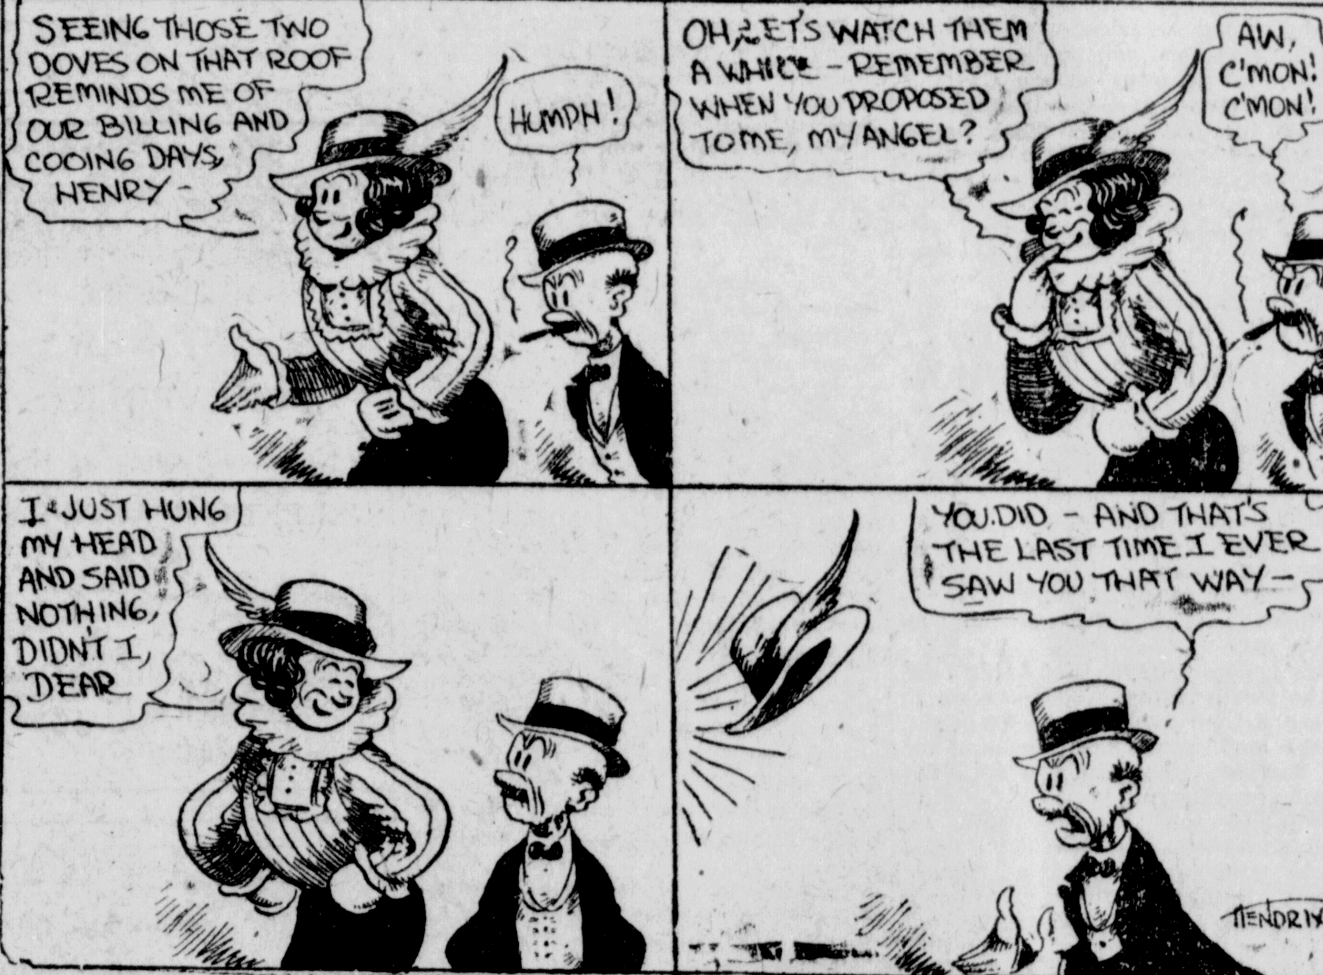

The suit in the second sketch is modeled along the most approved English lines even to the wide lapels. It is made of men's wear cloth and has a waistcoat of white pique. The one shown in this third sketch is modeled on naval uniform, or marine perhaps, since the coat and skirt—

Are of different materials—the coat of blue twill, the skirt of beige flannel. The suit illustrated in the last sketch is the one the Goofer prefers—he has a speaking suspicion that it is more feminine! It is of satin faced crepe with a seven-eighths length coat.

CANDY KITCHEN ENJOYS POPULAR ESTEEM IN XENIA

One of the oldest sweet shops and eating houses in the city, and one that has enjoyed a constant increase in trade, is the Xenia Candy Kitchen, East Main Street.

The home-made confections sold by the shop are of the highest quality and include all kinds of candy, ice-cream and other sweets. A large fountain in the front of the store takes care of the large soda water and ice cream trade.

Within the last few months, the shop installed attractive booths and tables in the rear to accommodate the luncheon trade. The booths give a touch of privacy to the diners and comfortably seat luncheon parties. An expert chef at the shop are offered each day and the "kitchen" is a common meeting ground for business men and social gatherings.

The firm recently installed a new refrigeration system and all the latest up-to-date equipment is the boast of the shop.

ARCADE POPULAR MEETING PLACE FOR XENIA MEN

A popular social meeting place for men of the city is The Arcade, South Detroit Street. The shop draws a large trade from men each evening and one of the most popular features is the nightly bowling matches in which several teams of the city are entered.

The bowling contests have aroused keen interest among those interested in that sport and the largest contests of the vicinity are held at The Arcade.

The billiard tables in the shop are also patronized constantly and this form of diversion is actively engaged in by a number of men.

The shop keeps a large stock of the most popular brands of cigars and tobacco. Lunches and soft drinks are sold in the front of the shop and are an attraction to the large patronage enjoyed by the business.

The Arcade has had a successful business for several years, and the present proprietor, A. L. Regan, has drawn a large trade since he took over the management of the business.

DODDS GRANITE COMPANY OPENING WILL BE NEXT WEEK

The week of March 16th to 21st has been set apart for the Annual Spring Exhibit of Memorials at the display rooms of the Dodds Granite Company, West Main Street.

For a number of years it has been the annual custom to have this special exhibit when elaborate preparations are made to show the hundreds of markers and monuments that have been completed during the winter months and are ready for delivery.

Such an exhibit is always appealing to those interested in monument work of any kind, for it gives an opportunity to see all of the most modern designs in a completed form. It also enables one to see the many different styles of engraving for which this firm is noted.

The moment you enter the large display room you are impressed with the magnitude of the exhibit and you marvel at the beautiful results obtained by man with his skill and ingenuity working upon the beautiful and everlasting granites.

The company extends a very special invitation to the public to visit its display and factory during next week. Whether you are definitely interested or not you will find such a visit educational as you can see the men at work and learn many things about working in stone that perhaps you do not know.

NEW CHEVROLETS COMBINE BEAUTY AND LONG SERVICE

The Greene County Auto Sales, West Main Street is one of the many agencies for Chevrolet cars, which are pleased with the announcement of the features of the new cars now on the market.

The new features are: a new chassis, with a larger, stronger frame; new semi-elliptic chrome vanadium steel springs; new and stronger front axle; completely new rear axle of finest construction; pressed steel housing and greatly strengthened gears; improved disc clutch; heavy extra brake bands and new and easier steering mechanism.

The new bodies are of greater beauty and comfort. The open bodies are longer and have a new windshield with very low bottom panel, rubber weather stripping. All models have cowl lights and a new instrument board, giving more room. All closed models have new and beautiful Fisher bodies with the new VV type closed body, one piece windshield and automatic windshield wiper.

All the new models are finished in Duco, which retains its color and lustre. The new Chevrolet open models and coach are finished in rich dark blue, on the sedan is used aquamarine blue for lower panels and hood, upper panels in black; coupe with lower panels and hood in sage green, upper panels in black.

WESTERN ELECTRIC PLANTS FEATURE THIS FIRM'S WORK

The Owens and McDaniel shop on North King Street, between Main and Market Streets, is an agency for the Western Electric service, one of the oldest types of electrical services on the market.

The Western Electric Service is one of the several features that marks the high grade of work done by the Owens and McDaniel firm. The workmen take charge of motor fan and generator repairs and handle contracts for lighting systems on farms. Automobile ignition and all kinds of motor work receives expert attention.

C. S. McDaniel, member of the firm is an inspector and salesman for the Western Electric Company and has been in the employ of that company for seven years. He supervises the work done by the firm to guarantee the best service.

Ralph Owens, the other firm member, has had large experience on all motor and electrical work both in the factories and in shops.

The lighting plant on the Garland Washburn farm near South Charleston will be installed by the Owens and McDaniel firm. One hundred and seventy-five Western Electric Service plants have been installed in Greene County.

CARL ANDERSON WILL RENT AUTO FOR ANY PERIOD

If you own a Ford car, do you know that the upkeep of the machine, whether in use or not, is about $4.50 a week? Carl Anderson, of the Anderson Rent-A-Car Service, is trying to impress this point on the public, to bring out the fact that it is cheaper to rent machines than to own a car.

Mr. Anderson says, that on account of the steady depreciation of automobiles and their repair, the cost of the upkeep mounts whether in use or not and therefore the purchase of a car is not always wise.

Mr. Anderson rents out cars, including Fords, Chevrolets, and Buicks from his headquarters in the Eagles' Building, North Whiteman Street. He furnishes gasoline, oil and other requisites for the renter who is assessed fifteen cents a mile for a touring car and seventeen cents a mile for a closed car. For every mile over a twenty-five mile trip, one-half cent is deducted from the rent bill of the trip.

Mr. Anderson has seven cars in constant renting service. He operates the business alone and has been in the work for about three and one half years. Cars are rented for trips of any length or period of time.

SINCLAIR OIL IS POPULAR PRODUCT OF DAVIS OIL CO.

Two filling stations and repair centers are operated by the W. S. Davis Oil Company, one on West Main Street and the other on South Detroit Street.

Sinclair oils are sold by the company at both stations and an oil storage plant is operated by the company on Hill Street. There, large tanks containing high-grade oil, supply the fleet of trucks of the company covering Greene County.

Five trucks distribute the Sinclair oils for the company over Greene County. Thirteen employees are on the payroll of the Davis Company.

In addition to the filling station on West Main Street, a garage is operated in the rear of the station, where expert mechanics take care of motorists.

Sinclair Opaline Oils and Sinclair gas and kerosene are sold at the Davis station.

PURITY IS MOTTO OF HURLEY DAIRY AT LOCAL PLANT

Babies play a large part in the business of the Hurley Dairy, this city, and because of the large number of infants that depend on this dairy for their food, which must be of the highest type, the dairy uses much precaution in the grade of milk distributed.

In order that the babies and grown-ups too, may have the cleanest milk, free from all disease germs, the milk from the Hurley Dairy is tested by a bacteriologist at Antioch College, Yellow Springs. Quantities of the milk are sent to the college laboratory regularly and constant bacteriological accounts are kept of the grade of the milk.

High-grade butter, milk, cream, and buttermilk are sold by the Hurley Dairy. The milk is pasteurized and all the latest equipment has been installed in the dairy to insure sanitation and good handling.

Two trucks are operated by the dairy in Xenia. Milk is brought to the dairy from Greene County farms which are inspected and the cows free from all disease.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT SAY GRIEVE AND HARNESS REALTORS

"The outlook for the real estate business is good. Things are gradually returning to a good substantial basis. Everything looks prosperous now and we expect greater things in the future" is the optimistic viewpoint of R. R. Grieve, member of the real estate and loan firm of Grieve and Harness.

During the eleven years the real estate firm has been established, it has never lost a dollar for a client, Mr. Grieve and Mr. Harness boast. Mr. Grieve has been in the business for eleven years and Mr. Harness joined him as partner six years ago.

The firm does business throughout this section of the Miami Valley and handles the sale of city and county properties, residences, farms and business blocks. It takes care of both the seller and buyer on every deal to insure the highest satisfaction on both sides.

The Grieve and Harness firm has enjoyed the largest business during the past year of any year since the business was started. The firm's motto is "Boost and work and things will go."

"CAP" STUBBS-Why Rub It In!

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY" BY MACK SAUER

Xenia, Ohio, March 14.-A few jottings of the day by Samuel Popps, jr.: Bethought myself to go to my shed to see if I might have a rat in my trap or no, where found none to my displeasure. Pretty ill in health from eating some peas my wife cooked, they far from being done.

For a stroll to the library where got a book on Charles G. Dawes, a man I love above any politician I know. Who should catch up with me but Tom Long, the realestate dealer? And to hear me flay the Democrats was good fun, though taken as a joke, as most of my talk is of late.

Wroth at the way my wife rips my shirts, when washing, so that they are good for wearing only when I have a coat on, mighty uncomfortable such days as these, and of a truth I plan to get one of these women advertising in the Gazette to do my laundry. Bought a bushel of apples as advertised in The Gazette by William Short.

In the evening lounged about, frightened lest some company come an see me in my untidiness. Turned in on the radio and the music fine but classical and above me for nothing pleases me but the old tunes like "Old Black Joe" and the like, so uncultured am I. Put out with a silly bedtime story, so enough of the radio for the night.

Got out glasses and some chipped ice and made lemonade, a drink mighty delicious these warm nights, but one not good enough for some fellows. Read a few verses in the Bible and late to bed with prayers.

GET THE DOPE

A little learning
Is a dangerous thing;
Get the dope on marriage
Ere you leap, by jing.

Sporty young dandies who drive around with pictures of bathing beauties pasted on their windshields may be giving their kind and undivided attention to the manipulating of their cars, but we doubt it.

IT'S A GIRL

It may wear knickers,
Bobbed hair and all that;
But if it wears earrings
It's a girl, wagar that.

In effect, the proposed rate increase would increase rates about nine cents per 1,000 feet. The last published report of the commission shows that the Logan Company in 1923, served 92,507 domestic and commercial, outside of industrial consumers, and distributed them $501,117,900 cubic feet, an average of 92,000 cubic feet per customer a year, or slightly less than 8,000 cubic feet a month, over which would be spread the proposed increase of 72 1-2 cents.

The Logan Company, in 1923, according to latest published reports, paid a four per cent dividend of $800,000 on its $20,000,000 outstanding common stock. Its revenues for 1923 were $6,926,428.47; operating expenses $5,514,416.83; net operating revenue $1,412,011.64. From this total were deducted taxes of $537.77, leaving a gross income of $874,457.87. The company had other incomes of $8,939.35, giving total gross income of $883,397.22. Deductions for interest and other similar charges were $15,039.92, giving a net income of $868,357.30. From this total earnings, the company paid $800,000 in dividends and applied the balance of $68,357.30 to surplus.

The burden of the company's proof in attempting to justify the proposed increased rates is expected to rest on an attempt to show that the company's rate of income return should be increased. The law allows a maximum return of eight per cent. Its dividend rate is now four per cent on $20,000,000 capital stock, authorization for which was given originally by the commission.

EXAMINATION IS ORDERED BUT JOB IS ALREADY FILLED

A report that the State Civil Service Commission will conduct a special examination at the Court House, Tuesday, March 24, of applicants for appointments to the positions of superintendent and matron, of the Greene County Children's Home, could not be substantiated Friday.

Herman Eavey, president of the Board of County Commissioners, declared a special bulletin giving complete information of the examination had been received, together with application blanks, but that he knew nothing of any change in superintendents.

James Soward, superintendent of the home, together with Mrs. Soward who is matron, were again appointed to the position for another year by the board of trustees of the Home, at its March meeting, according to George Stiles, president of the board, and no change will be made. The appointment is yearly, it is understood.

The report stated that all applications must be filed with the state commission at Columbus not later than March 21.

COAL PRODUCTION LOW

Glouster, March 14—Southern Ohio remains at the bottom of the list relative to coal production, federal government figures show. In a recent week, the 142 mines of the Hooking field produced only 77,000 tons of coal, while their possible production is estimated at 250,000 tons. Operators said the figures on coal production will go still lower before summer.

YESTERDAY'S JUNIOR PUZZLE ANSWER

BRINGING UP FATHER

One Wife on Approval by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA LELAND'S husband, Jim, has gone to Honolulu shortly after their marriage, following a misunderstanding with his wife, and has taken his mother with him, leaving Cynthia to face the disapproval of her sister-in-law.

LOUELLA, and all her world. CYNTHIA turns to CECELIE MALCOLM, leader of the town's gayest set, and accepts the friendship of NOEL GARDNER, the town's black sheep, going with them to a mid-winter house party at Cecelie's mountain cabin.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXVII—THE TOWN REALLY TALKS!

CYNTHIA could not sleep that night. It seemed incredible that her life could have taken such a turn. She was happier than she had ever been before when she thought of Noel and his love for her; a new contentment had come to her as she thought about him. She knew that she could be happy with him no matter how poor they were or under what conditions they lived.

And yet, there was Jim. She had married him, supposing that she loved him. It was only after he neglected her for his mother that she was unhappy. She had tried to fan her love into its former flame even after he had gone off to Honolulu hardly bothering to write her. She could not help feeling even yet that if his family had not interfered they might have got along together.

"But that's about what we'd have done—got along," she told herself. "We'd have been like so many married couples. We'd never have known the wonderful happiness that Noel and I could know."

She did not know what to do. She must tell Jim of her love for Noel, of course. After that he would have to decide what was to happen.

But if Cynthia was bewildered, the women who had so often gossiped over her affairs were not. They all knew exactly what ought to be done—the fact that they did not agree did not make any of them less sure about their own decisions.

Cynthia's love for Noel would be no news for them; many of them had been predicting that the two would fall in love with each other ever since their first meeting.

That afternoon at Louella's they talked so fast and furiously about Louella's pretty sister-in-law that the bridge game suffered and finally had to be abandoned.

"My dear, I always knew that she and Jim wouldn't get along," declared one young matron. "She just isn't Jim's kind. Much too gay."

This last in a tone of disgust, despite the fact that the young matron had herself been characterized as "very wild" until increasing avoidments decreased her charms and forced her into domesticity!

"I said that at the very first."

"Well, you know how it is when a girl just grows up, as they say she did, without any family. Brought up by various relatives, wasn't she?" contributed another.

"Yes. Not that that was her fault, of course! But she never appreciated Jim or his family, from the first she resented Madame Leland's efforts to break her in to the right way of doing things."

"And mother tried so hard," Louella put in. "Even went marketing with her—you remember? Why, we were all willing to do everything for Cynthia. You know how she was about not keeping engagements—said she forgot them! Day after day mother went to her house and saw to it that she was dressed and got to a bridge party or tea or whatever she was to go to or moon around with a book if she was left to herself. I never knew a bride who was more careless about the entertainments that were given for her!"

"And now this affair with Noel Gardner," put in the young matron again as Louella drifted away to another group. "I call it absolutely shameful. They say that she invested a lot of money in that subdivision of his, thought she'd make a lot more, I suppose. Or perhaps she did it because she was in love with him."

"She did it because Madame Leland had bought some stock in the subdivision while Jim was off on his honeymoon," exclaimed a girl who had taken no part in the conversation until then. "Madame Leland blamed Cynthia somehow, because she'd bought the stock—just because Jim wasn't here to advise her. So Cynthia got Noel to buy it and then took it herself."

They talked fast and furiously.

"Well, she'll lose her money now," the young matron declared, not without satisfaction. "They say that land's quite worthless since the lots all around it have been sold for factories."

"And all the women who have been wishing Noel Gardner would pay some attention to them, and been disappointed, will be glad he's lost his money," commented the girl, maliciously. "I think it's screamingly funny the way everybody played for his favor when he came home from Europe, and then when he showed that he didn't give a whoop for any of the women they promptly began criticising him. I don't blame him for falling in love with Cynthia. And Jim Leland's such a stick that I don't blame her for losing her heart to Noel."

She sauntered away, leaving a group of embarrassed women behind her. More than one of them had hoped that Noel Gardner would attach himself to her when he first returned from abroad, and had been disappointed to find that he was willing to be polite and friendly, but nothing more.

But in a few moments they were talking again, speculating about the future. When would Jim Leland be back? What would he say when he heard that his wife had been snowed out of a deserted summer cottage for three days with Noel Gardner?

Tomorrow—Confidences.

MEN ARRESTED IN HOLD UP ATTEMPT SEEK REFUGE HERE

Three men arrested by Dayton authorities in connection with the attempted holdup of the Farmers' State Bank of Englewood Thursday afternoon, sought temporary refuge in Xenia, Wednesday night, for an hour after stealing an automobile in Dayton, it is said.

After stealing the machine in Dayton, the trio drove to Xenia and stayed about an hour before returning to Dayton, according to a confession signed by one of the men implicating his companions. They removed the license plates from the auto and threw them into a barn near the outskirts of Dayton.

After attempting the holdup later in the afternoon, which was frustrated by the ringing of a burglar alarm, the men fled.

Dayton authorities passed through Xenia on the trail of the bandits, on the tip that they were headed for Springfield.

Motorcycle Patrolman Peter Shagin stopped their machine as they were driving through at a mile-a-minute rate and was told to be on the watch for the Chrysler car.

Those arrested gave their names as Edward H. Rank, 23, 209 Dayton St., Dayton; George R. Turrell, 24, New Athens, O., and Charles Smith, 17, of 66 York Avenue, Dayton.

CADETS WILL PLAY DAYTON TOSSERS

The O. S. and S. O. Home Cadet basketball team will get back into action Saturday evening when it takes on the crack St. Paul A. C. of Dayton at the Armory Hall.

This team has defeated some of the best quintets around Dayton and vicinity. They have won eight games this season while losing but one. They have several former Stivers High School players on their team and they will make the "Home" lads step plenty fast in order to cope.

All the Cadet players came out of their game last week in good shape with the exception of Philby, star guard, who will not don a suit the remainder of the season. The Cadets have been practicing faithfully all week under the guidance of "Butch" Genger in order that they might hand the St. Paul five a drubbing. Last week the Cadets took an over-zealous game from Tilton's team of this city by a 25 to 23 score. To date they have played eight contests and of this number they have won five and lost three. The game will start at 7 o'clock and the public is invited.

BROOKLYN DODGERS HAVE $200,000 CAST AND PENNANT HOPES FOR COMING SEASON

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Clearwater, Fla., March 14.—The salary roll of the Brooklyn National League Club for 1925, exceeds $200,000, it was declared today by a close friend of Charley Ebbets, president and majority stockholder of the club.

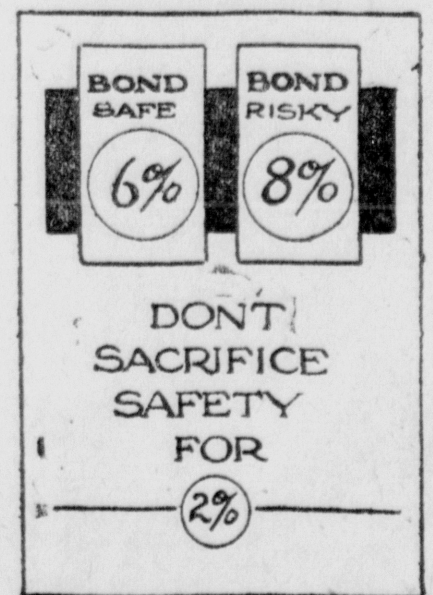

Six of the squire's employees, exclusive of Manager Wilbert Robinson, will receive in excess of $7,000 per annum, this friend of Ebbets said.

The favored sextet it is unnecessary to say, consists of Dazzy Vance, the league's leading pitcher; Burleigh Grimes, human salivary gland; Jack Fournier, first baseman; Zach Wheat, star outfielder; Milton Stock, who may or may not make the grade at third base and Jimmy Johnson.

Vance has been offered a three-year contract for $47,500 and intimates he might accept same if the men fled.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

For the small investor, trying to get 1 1/2 percent or 2 percent extra yield from a security is as foolish as extracting gold from sea water.

For safety's sake, leave that last 1 or 1 1/2 percent of yield alone when selecting securities for purchase. Generally speaking, the percent difference between a bond yielding 6 percent and 8 percent does not nearly compensate for the loss of safety which the 2 per cent increase in yield represents.

Furthermore, on a dollars and cents basis, the extra 2 percent does not figure up to any enormous sum. If you hold as high as $10,000 worth of securities an 8 percent yield would only bring you $200 a year more than the 6 percent yield—and the 6 percent bonds would be pretty likely to keep on yielding whereas the 8's might or might not continue to pay interest.

The average small investor seldom has more than $300 to invest at one time. The difference in income per year between $300 at 6 percent and at 8 percent is a matter of $6—two shirts and necktie. If you are in a position to take risk for high return, these statements do not apply to you, but if you feel that safety is imperative you must pay the premium for it in the shape of foregoing higher interest rates.

Your banker will verify these statements and will be glad to talk over the matter of investments with you.

MORGAN IN CHARGE OF CLARK COUNTY FLOOD PREVENTION

Announcement was made Saturday that the first steps in the two-months' flood prevention program to be conducted in Springfield by Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College and head of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering Company, were completed.

Morgan has said that the entire project designed to protect Springfield from possible floods in the future, will consume about two months of field and laboratory work.

Field inspections of both the Mad River and Buck Creek valleys with geological determinations made in Morgan's laboratory will be included in the survey.

Each county reported several hundred dog licenses issued during the same periods.

SUM OF $19,703 IS RECEIVED BY CITY FROM DISTRIBUTION

An analysis of the money in taxes received by the city from the February tax distribution shows that Xenia received $19,703.67 or a rate of $3.50 on each $1,000 worth of property for operating expenses, aside from special assessments.

This represents Xenia's share of the distribution after the amount going into the interest and sinking fund has been deducted, according to City Auditor T. H. Zell.

City taxpayers paid a tax rate of $6.37 on every $1,000 property valuation, of which $3.50 is for operating expenses.

This amount is slightly more than half or 52 per cent which will go for operating expenses alone during the year 1925. The August distribution will net the city about 48 per cent for operating expenses.

The money is distributed into four city funds for which taxes are levied, the general, service, health and safety funds. The general fund will receive $1,624.62; service, $6,339.41; health, $704.38; and the safety, $11,035.26 or more than half the total amount.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT ELABORATE AFFAIR

The engagement of Miss Lillian Mathews of St. Petersburg, Florida, and Mr. Ralph Dillon of Columbus, O., former Xenian was announced Wednesday, evening, March 4, at one of the most elaborate social functions ever given in St. Petersburg. The affair was an informal dinner dance, given by Mrs. Elliott Wolvin at the Gangplank.

The setting for the party was the private dining room of the Gangplank, which is done beautifully in green and gold. The green and gold color scheme was carried out in the decorations. The dinner table was arranged in the shape of a hollow square and in the center was a gold vase filled with calla lilies, mounted on a pedestal draped with green velvet. Copper bowls filled with white spring flowers were arranged at intervals along the table and bows of tulle ribbon were draped along the edge of the table.

Place cards were photographs of Mr. Dillon and Miss Mathews with their monograms done in gold. Favors for the men were monogrammed cigarettes and match boxes.

Miss Ruth Shirley, dressed in a French costume of white satin and ostrich feathers with petals of pastel shades hanging from her waist entered the dining room and sang a number of solos. As she passed around the room, she unfurled the petals from her costume and presented one to each of the women guests. When opened these were found to contain French silk vanity bags. Miss Shirley also carried a black staff with streamers of rose buds at one end of which was an ostrich feather fan. This fan she presented to Miss Mathews as her gift from the hosts.

A number of interesting events took place during the dinner. Mr. C. F. Ridenour, of Piqua, former Xenian, was a guest at the affair.

Uses Proxy "Wife" to Win Chicago Divorce

JAMES GRIPPANDO, HELEN FREDERICK & MRS. GRIPPANDO, ATT.

One of the queerest marital tangles ever heard was aired in a Chicago divorce court before Judge Sabath. James Grippando and his wife were separated and Grippando wished to marry Helen Frederick. But Mrs. Grippando showed no desire to free him by way of the divorce court. Grippando, however, got Helen Frederick to pose as "Mrs. Grippando" and sue him for divorce, alleging desertion. In court, Helen, as "Mrs. Anna Grippando," testified that her "husband" had deserted her two years before. Grippando mounted the witness stand and admitted the charge, in the hope that the court would grant the divorce and he might marry Helen. Grippando was sentenced to 30 days and Helen Frederick to 10 days in jail for contempt of court.

PHILIPPINES LOOM BIG

How large are the Philippines?

Compared with our other insular possessions, the Philippines are 18 times as large as the Hawaiian Islands, 33 times as large as Porto Rico and nearly 1,000 times as large as the Virgin Islands. Five hundred and forty-seven islands the size of Guam could be placed in the land area of the Philippines and there would still be 130 square miles left over.

The exact land area of the Philippines Archipelago is 115,026 square miles, or very nearly the area of Italy, which is 117,982 square miles. The Islands are larger than such countries as Jugo-Slavia, Prussia, New Zealand, and the United Kingdom of England, Scotland and Wales. They are more than twice as large as England, four times the size of Scotland, nine times as large as Holland and ten times the size of Belgium.

The Philippines are only slightly exceeded in land area by Japan, Norway, Poland and Rumania.

Compared with our own states, the Islands equal in area all the New England States and New York. Only four states exceed them in area, Texas, California, Montana and New Mexico. They are twice as large as Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Florida or Arkansas.

Cuba, the largest of the West Indies, 750 miles long and on an average 50 miles wide, is only slightly more than one-third the size of the Philippines, which extend a maximum of 1,152 miles north and south and 682 miles east and west.

ANOTHER CLAIM SET UP

NORWAY is reported to interject another claim to the pre-Columbian discovery of America. A professor in the University of Copenhagen claims to have found evidence indicating that a Norwegian expedition in 1472 reached Labrador and probably Newfoundland and the adjacent mainland. According to the claim advanced, the King of Portugal urged King Christian I of Denmark to fit out an expedition to find a "Northwest Passage" to Asia and in pursuance of this request a ship was fitted out in a Norwegian harbor and manned by Norwegian sailors. Two Portuguese noblemen were members of the expedition.

The presumption to be drawn from this is to the effect that Columbus learned of the result of these efforts and was guided by them in his first voyage a score of years later. Granting the possibility of such knowledge having been gained by Columbus, it would seem strange that he did not follow the course mapped out by the Norse voyagers. The point at which he aimed was thousands of miles distant from any land the Norsemen could have visited, conceding all that has been claimed for their discoveries.

Were this later Norse voyage definitely established it would not serve to end the controversy which grows more complicated, various other claimants to having been the original discoverers of America having been entered in recent years. However, Columbus still retains the primacy, for he let the world know the result of his expedition.

I have received several letters from young housekeepers asking this question: "Do camphor balls and cedar chips kill moths and prevent their eggs from hatching out if already in the stored garment?"

My answer is: "No but the camphor balls and cedar chips will keep outside months away from the stored article." Before storing your woolens, however, you should rid them of moth eggs and larvae as follows:

Brush the woolens out of doors, paying special attention to seams, pockets, the under sides of collars and other places where dust lodges, then sun and air them for several days. Next, go over them with gasoline or benzine, freshening and removing spots; these fluids do not injure color but they must be used away from heat or flame because they are extremely inflammable.

Some wool materials are not injured by being saturated with formalin; this method will absolutely kill moth eggs and larvae, so it is worth using when possible. But do not use it on the garment or blanket without first experimenting on a small sample, or inconspicuous corner of the article to learn its effect.

The next step, after brushing, sunning and cleansing the woolens in this manner is to pack them away. There are three popular methods of doing this: 1. In tar or camphor bags which are manufactured for the purpose. 2. In home-made and similarly shaped bags of newspapers with all cracks sealed with gummed paper. 3. In heavy cardboard suit boxes, with all cracks sealed with paper tape. By any of these methods the woolens are protected from outside moths. It is well to put camphor balls, cedar chips, tobacco, wisps of cotton wet with oil of cedar and tied in muslin bags, and other bundles, in the folds of the woolens, to make the work doubly safe. Another preventive measure is to hang the bundles in mid-air suspended from the ceiling, in a light, airy place.

AN ARTIST IN THE ART OF HAPPINESS

I have a friend who is an artist in the art of happiness, whose character is so finely wrought that all who come in contact with him at once feel with him the ecstasy of life.

What a gift! Or is it a gift? I rather think that such a character is something that comes through long cultivation like a controlled temper. I personally know that this friend of mine has gone through great tests of soul. And every time his spirit glows afresh as though bathed anew in the sunshine.

Building a character like this is sheer art, than which there is no art greater. Not even the art of the painter, sculptor, singer, actor or writer.

Life is full of happiness. The art comes in finding it and redistributing it—in taking it into your heart as you do the air you breathe.

I have in mind two writers of great note whose personal lives were saturated with unhappiness but whose souls shone like June days when the roses are all abloom. I see the minds of these writers in movements pursuing ideals and putting flesh and blood in them. I see them rise from the mud of the swamp-like white lilies with their roots imbedded deep in that mud.

Surely the sun of the great God's love performs marvelous miracles.

There is an explanation as to why some of the whitest lilies rise from the swamps and some from the green grass of meadows. The fact that you may be discouraged is an encouragement. Remember this.

And remember that you may become a very great artist in the art of finding happiness in this world. The thing is to find the way. And there is a way. The artist finds it.

At one step, the new good Maxwell creates an immeasurably higher conception of the dollar's buying power in its relation to motor car speed and power.

The owner of this new good Maxwell finds in it an ability for sustained speed which wins his respect no matter how powerful the cars which he has driven before.

He becomes used to leading traffic in the city because of a flashing acceleration which is not surpassed by any car built today.

He finds himself enjoying these advantages at an operating and maintenance cost which owners declare is lower than any previous motor car experience has ever taught them to expect.

For the cause of this revolutionary achievement, credit the engineering genius which produced the Chrysler Six, the wonderful plants in which the new good Maxwell is manufactured from wheels to body, from radiator to rear axle.

In this new good Maxwell, Chrysler engineers and Maxwell's fine workmanship have advanced the ability of four cylinders beyond anything the industry had previously produced. We enthusiastically invite you to let us prove Maxwell's superior quality and value.

ORGANIZATION FOR PARK CAMPAIGN IS READY TO START WORK

Organization of workers for the one-day drive to be held next Thursday to finance the proposed city park, has been at work according to City Auditor T. H. Zell, president of the Xenia Recreation Association.

Miss Janice Owens, in charge of campaign headquarters, has lined up workers all over the city, to solicit for the fund. The city has been divided into eight sections, each headed by a captain, with a quota of workers under each.

Members of the general finance committee will gather at the Goody Shoppe Monday evening for a 5 o'clock supper at which reports will be given, to be followed by a meeting of all organization workers at the City Hall at 7 o'clock for a "last minute" conference.

Plans are being made to have a conference of all classes of Central High School Monday afternoon at which the park plan will be discussed. Aid of the students may be sought in assisting in the drive. A speaker will outline plans of the association at a student meeting Tuesday, it is said.

A number of voluntary pledges have already been received at the headquarters at City Hall. Mr. Zell is optimistic concerning the result of the drive. The association is seeking to raise $10,000, to beautify a ten-acre tract in the Dodds Addition donated by P. H. Flynn to the association.

Tilton's Athletic Club, newly formed, will discuss ways and means of financially boosting the plan, at a meeting to be held at Tilton's clothing store Sunday afternoon, it is said.

DETOUR CAUSED BY REPAIRS ON PIKE

Seven miles of pike between South Charleston and London are being rebuilt into a macadam road, necessitating a detour for motorists between Xenia and Columbus, officials of the Greene County Auto Club advise.

Motorists will be required to detour by way of Washington C. H., or Springfield, either route being equally good. The road will be closed until early fall and the detour adds about six miles to a trip to Columbus from Xenia by motor.

REWARD POSTED

A standing reward of $200 has been offered by the postal department for the arrest and conviction of anyone breaking into and robbing a post office and the same offer holds for the arrest of bandits who recently escaped with thousands of dollars in stamps from the post office at Lorain, O., according to a bulletin received Thursday by Postmaster C. S. Frazer, from Cincinnati.

Activities of post office thieves have been unusually marked this year, according to the bulletin.

Hit Wales' Visit

DAVID KIRKWOOD
J. M. KENWORTHY

David Kirkwood, Socialist member of the English House of Commons for Glasgow, in a speech recently decried "the trotting all over the world and making a clown of the Prince of Wales." His observations were part of an unprecedented attack on the Government's policy of using Wales as an ambassador on world tours. The Hon. Commander J. M. Kenworthy was one of two Liberals in the House who voted with the Laborites against the increased appropriations for the African trip of the Duke and Duchess of York, which resulted in a frank discussion of royal means in Parliament.

REPORT ERYSIPELAS HAS FOLLOWED GRIP

Dr. W. M. Hartinger, Spring Valley physician, is attending several cases of erysipelas, which in each case has followed an attack of grip or influenza.

The skin eruption has attacked the patient's face and head and in each case the condition is extremely painful. Physicians have no fear of an epidemic of the disease but have noticed a number of the cases, resulting from grip attacks.

Held in Murder

DR. HAROLD E. BLAZER

Dr. Harold E. Blazer, a retired physician of Denver, Col., is being held there charged with the murder of his crippled daughter, Hazel, thirty-two. Mrs. Frances Bishop, sister of the victim, testified at the coroner's inquest that the dead woman did not have sufficient strength to administer the dose of poison which is believed to have resulted in her death.

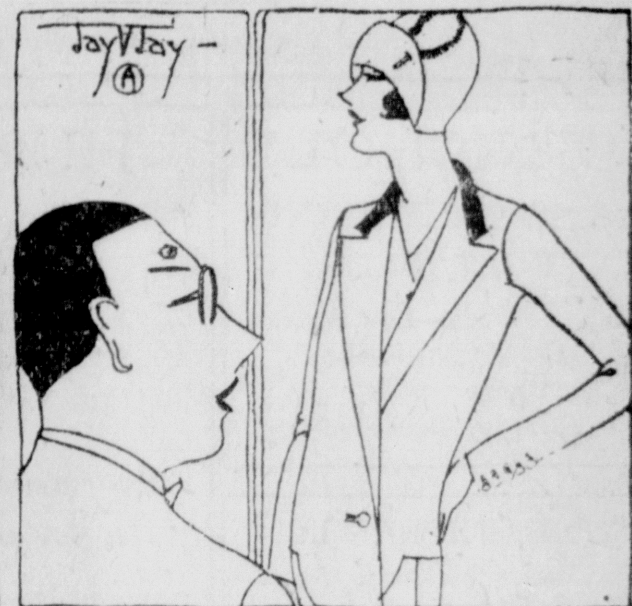

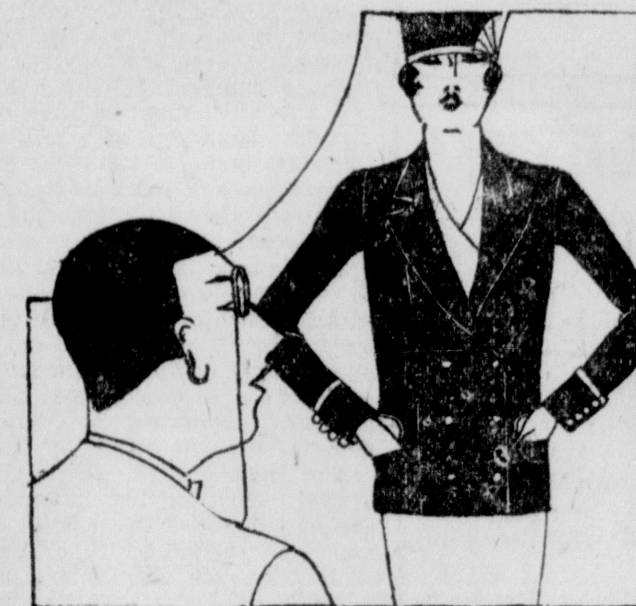

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Gets First Hand Information

By JAY V. JAY

This, of course, is our own Mitzi dressed in a simple silk frock and jolly little felt hat, telephoning the Goofer. Will he please go shopping with her? The Goofer can imagine other things more pleasant than shopping but Mitzi, after all is Mitzi. He will.

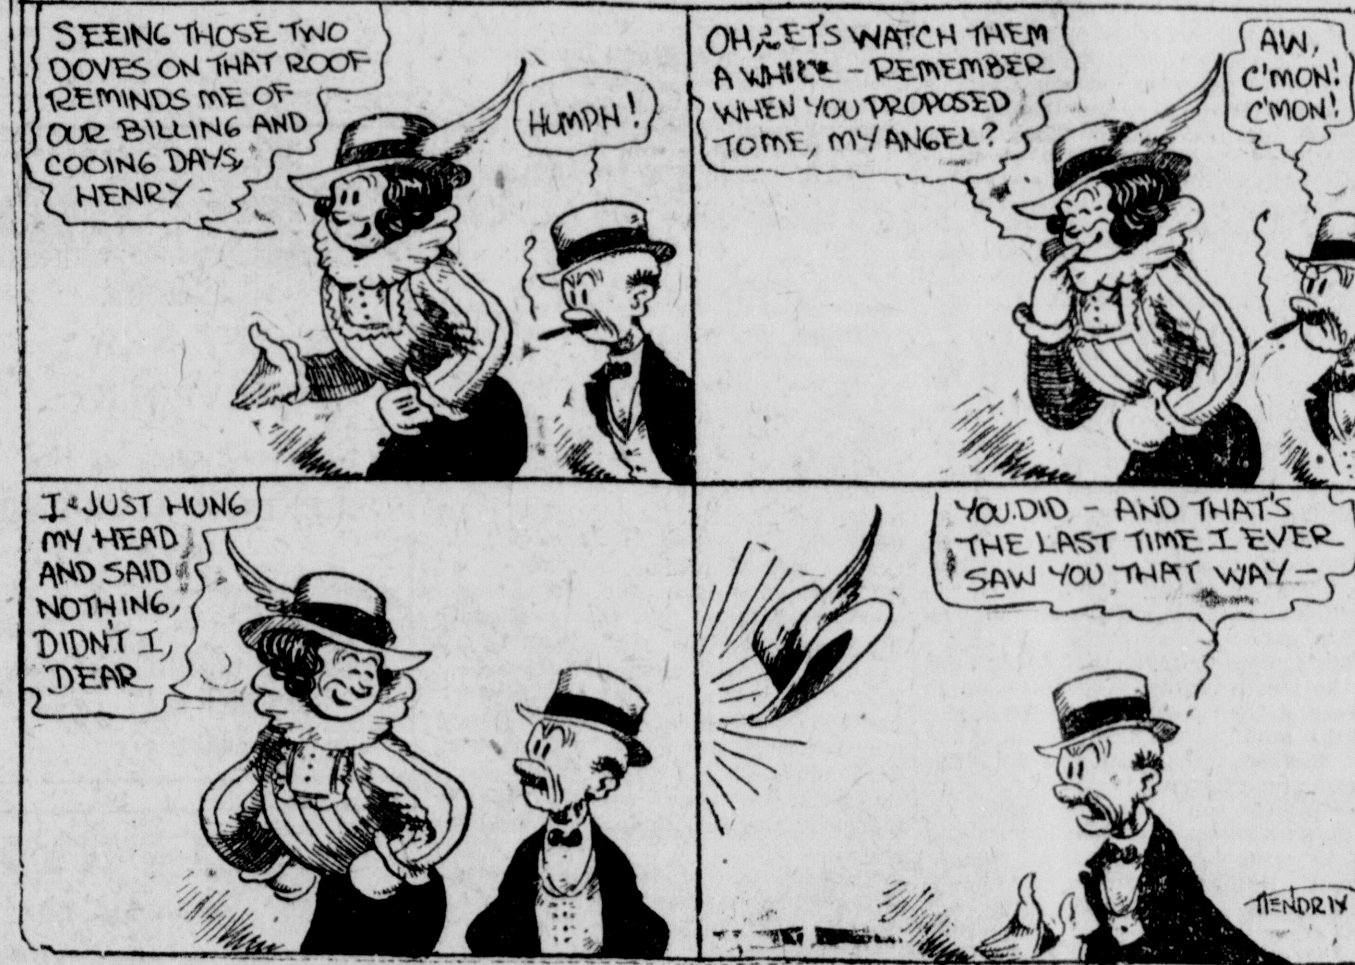

Now the secret is out. Did Mitzi ask for the Goofer's company merely for the pleasure of it? Not at all. She wants his serious consideration of new spring suits. "You see," she explains, "women's tailored wear is so masculine this season that I have to have a man's opinion."

The suit in the second sketch is modeled along the most approved English lines even to the wide lapels. It is made of men's wear cloth and has a waistcoat of white pique. The one shown in this third sketch is modeled on naval uniform, or marine perhaps, since the coat and skirt—

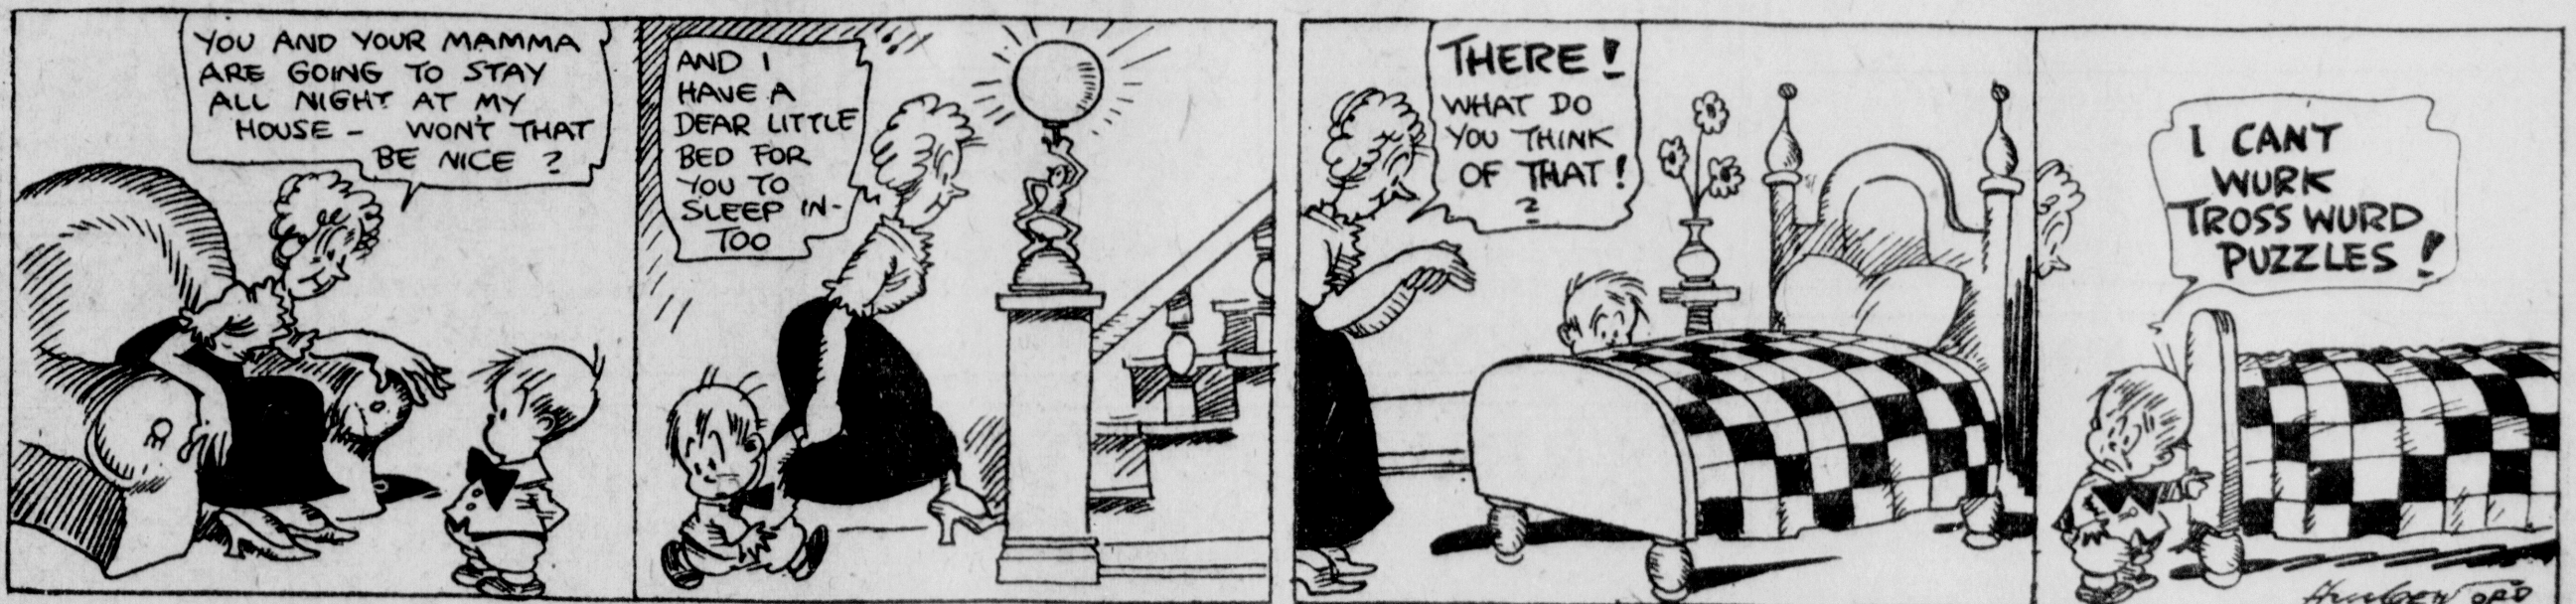

Are of different materials—the coat of blue twill, the skirt of beige flannel. The suit illustrated in the last sketch is the one the Goofer prefers—he has a speaking suspicion that it is more feminine! It is of satin faced crepe with a seven-eighths length coat.

CANDY KITCHEN ENJOYS POPULAR ESTEEM IN XENIA

One of the oldest sweet shops and eating houses in the city, and one that has enjoyed a constant increase in trade, is the Xenia Candy Kitchen, East Main Street.

The home-made confections sold by the shop are of the highest quality and include all kinds of candy, ice-cream and other sweets. A large fountain in the front of the store takes care of the large soda water and ice cream trade.

Within the last few months, the shop installed attractive booths and tables in the rear to accommodate the luncheon trade. The booths give a touch of privacy to the diners and comfortably seat luncheon parties.

Varied menus, food cooked by an expert chef at the shop are offered each day and the "kitchen" is a common meeting ground for business men and social gatherings.

The firm recently installed a new refrigeration system and all the latest up-to-date equipment is the boast of the shop.

ARCADE POPULAR MEETING PLACE FOR XENIA MEN

A popular social meeting place for men of the city is The Arcade, South Detroit Street. The shop draws a large trade from men each evening and one of the most popular features is the nightly bowling matches in which several teams of the city are entered.

The bowling contests have aroused keen interest among those interested in that sport and the largest contests of the vicinity are held at The Arcade.

The billiard tables in the shop are also patronized constantly and this form of diversion is actively engaged in by a number of men.

The shop keeps a large stock of the most popular brands of cigars and tobacco. Lunches and soft drinks are sold in the front of the shop and are an attraction to the large patronage enjoyed by the business.

The Arcade has had a successful business for several years, and the present proprietor, A. L. Regan, has drawn a large trade since he took over the management of the business.

DODDS GRANITE COMPANY OPENING WILL BE NEXT WEEK

The week of March 16th to 21st has been set apart for the Annual Spring Exhibit of Memorials at the display rooms of the Dodds Granite Company, West Main Street.

For a number of years it has been the annual custom to have this special exhibit when elaborate preparations are made to show the hundreds of markers and monuments that have been completed during the winter months and are ready for delivery.

Such an exhibit is always appealing to those interested in monument work of any kind, for it gives an opportunity to see all of the most modern designs in a completed form. It also enables one to see the many different styles of engraving for which this firm is noted.

The moment you enter the large display room you are impressed with the magnitude of the exhibit and you marvel at the beautiful results obtained by man with his skill and ingenuity working upon the beautiful and everlasting granites.

The company extends a very special invitation to the public to visit its display and factory during next week. Whether you are definitely interested or not you will find such a visit educational as you can see the men at work and learn many things about working in stone that perhaps you do not know.

NEW CHEVROLETS COMBINE BEAUTY AND LONG SERVICE

The Greene County Auto Sales, West Main Street is one of the many agencies for Chevrolet cars, which are pleased with the announcement of the features of the new cars now on the market.

The new features are: a new chassis, with a larger, stronger frame; new semi-elliptic chrome vanadium steel springs; new and stronger front axle; completely new rear axle of finest construction; pressed steel housing and greatly strengthened gears; improved disc clutch; heavy extra brake bands and new and easier steering mechanism.

The new bodies are of greater beauty and comfort. The open bodies are longer and have a new windshield with very low bottom panel, rubber weather stripping. All models have cowl lights and a new instrument board, giving more room. All closed models have new and beautiful Fisher bodies with the new VV style closed body, one piece windshield and automatic windshield wiper.

All the new models are finished in Duco, which retains its color and lustre. The new Chevrolet open models and coach are finished in rich dark blue, on the sedan is used aquamarine blue for lower panels and hood, upper panels in black; coupe with lower panels and hood in sage green, upper panels in black.

WESTERN ELECTRIC PLANTS FEATURE THIS FIRM'S WORK

The Owens and McDaniel shop on North King Street, between Main and Market Streets, is an agency for the Western Electric service, one of the oldest types of electrical services on the market.

The Western Electric Service is one of the several features that marks the high grade of work done by the Owens and McDaniel firm. The workmen take charge of motor fan and generator repairs and handle contracts for lighting systems on farms. Automobile ignition and all kinds of motor work receives expert attention.

C. S. McDaniel, member of the firm is an inspector and salesman for the Western Electric Company and has been in the employ of that company for seven years. He supervises the work done by the firm to guarantee the best service.

Ralph Owens, the other firm member, has had large experience on all motor and electrical work both in the factories and in shops.

The lighting plant on the Garland Washburn farm near South Charleston will be installed by the Owens and McDaniel firm. One hundred and seventy-five Western Electric Service plants have been installed in Greene County.

CARL ANDERSON WILL RENT AUTO FOR ANY PERIOD

If you own a Ford car, do you know that the upkeep of the machine, whether in use or not, is about $4.50 a week? Carl Anderson, of the Anderson Rent-A-Car Service, is trying to impress this point on the public, to bring out the fact that it is cheaper to rent machines than to own a car.

Mr. Anderson says, that on account of the steady depreciation of automobiles and their repair, the cost of the upkeep mounts whether in use or not and therefore the purchase of a car is not always wise.

Mr. Anderson rents out cars, including Fords, Chevrolets, and Buicks from his headquarters in the Eagles' Building, North Whiteman Street. He furnishes gasoline, oil and other requisites for the renter who is assessed fifteen cents a mile for a touring car and seventeen cents a mile for a closed car. For every mile over a twenty-five mile trip, one-half cent is deducted from the rent bill of the trip.

Mr. Anderson has seven cars in constant renting service. He operates the business alone and has been in the work for about three and one half years. Cars are rented for trips of any length or period of time.

SINCLAIR OIL IS POPULAR PRODUCT OF DAVIS OIL CO.

Two filling stations and repair centers are operated by the W. S. Davis Oil Company, one on West Main Street and the other on South Detroit Street.

Sinclair oils are sold by the company at both stations and an oil storage plant is operated by the company on Hill Street. There, large tanks containing high-grade oil, supply the fleet of trucks of the company covering Greene County.

Five trucks distribute the Sinclair oils for the company over Greene County. Thirteen employees are on the payroll of the Davis Company.

In addition to the filling station on West Main Street, a garage is operated in the rear of the station, where expert mechanics take care of automobiles.

Sinclair Opaline Oils and Sinclair gas and kerosene are sold at the Davis station.

PURITY IS MOTTO OF HURLEY DAIRY AT LOCAL PLANT

Babies play a large part in the business of the Hurley Dairy, this city, and because of the large number of infants that depend on this dairy for their food, which must be of the highest type, the dairy uses much precaution in the grade of milk distributed.

In order that the babies and grown-ups too, may have the cleanest milk, free from all disease germs, the milk from the Hurley Dairy is tested by a bacteriologist at Antioch College, Yellow Springs. Quantities of the milk are sent to the college laboratory regularly and constant bacteriological accounts are kept of the grade of the milk.

High-grade butter, milk, cream, and buttermilk are sold by the Hurley Dairy. The milk is pasteurized and all the latest equipment has been installed in the dairy to insure sanitation and good handling.

Two trucks are operated by the dairy in Xenia. Milk is brought to the dairy from Greene County farms which are inspected and the cows free from all disease.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT SAY GRIEVE AND HARNESS REALTORS

"The outlook for the real estate business is good. Things are gradually returning to a good substantial basis. Everything looks prosperous now and we expect greater things in the future" is the optimistic viewpoint of R. R. Grieve, member of the real estate and loan firm of Grieve and Harness.

During the eleven years the real estate firm has been established, it has never lost a dollar for a client, Mr. Grieve and Mr. Harness boast. Mr. Grieve has been in the business for eleven years and Mr. Harness joined him as partner six years ago. The firm does business throughout this section of the Miami Valley and handles the sale of city and county properties, residences, farms and business blocks. It takes care of both the seller and buyer on every deal to insure the highest satisfaction on both sides.

The Grieve and Harness firm has enjoyed the largest business during the past year of any year since the business was started. The firm's motto is "Boost and work and things will go."

THE EVENING GAZETTE, SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1925.

BY MACK SAUER

Xenia, Ohio, March 14.—A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepps, Jr.: Bethought myself to go to my shed to see if I might have a rat in my trap or no, where found none to my displeasure. Pretty ill in health from eating some peas my wife cooked, they far from being done.

For a stroll to the library where got a book on Charles G. Dawes, a man I love above any politician I know. Who should catch up with me but Tom Long, the real estate dealer? And to hear me flay the Democrats was good fun, though taken as a joke, as most of my talk is of late.

Wroth at the way my wife rips my shirts, when waahing, so that they are good for wearing only when I have a coat on, mighty uncomfortable such days as these, and of a truth I plan to get one of these women advertising in the Gazette to do my laundry. Bought a bushel of apples as advertised in The Gazette by William Short.

In the evening lounged about, frightened lest some company come an see me in my undignified. Turned in on the radio and the music fine but classical and above me for nothing pleases me but the old tunes like "Old Black Joe" and the like, so uncultured am I. Put out with a silly bedtime story, so enough of the radio for the night.

Got out glasses and some chipped ice and made lemonade, a drink mighty delicious these warm nights, but one not good enough for some fellows. Read a few verses in the Bible and late to bed with prayers.

GET THE DOPE

A little learning
Is a dangerous thing;
Get the dope on marriage
Ere you leap, by jing.

Sporty young dandies who drive around with pictures of bathing beauties pasted on their windshields may be giving their kind and undivided attention to the manipulating of their cars, but we doubt it.

IT'S A GIRL

It may wear knickers,
Bobbed hair and all that;
But if it wears earrings
It's a girl, wagar that.

EXAMINATION IS ORDERED BUT JOB IS ALREADY FILLED

A report that the State Civil Service Commission will conduct a special examination at the Court House, Tuesday, March 24, of applicants for appointments to the positions of superintendent and matron, of the Greene County Children's Home, could not be substantiated Friday.

Herman Eavey, president of the Board of County Commissioners, declared a special bulletin giving complete information of the examination had been received, together with application blanks, but that he knew nothing of any change in superintendents.

James Soward, superintendent of the home, together with Mrs. Soward who is matron, were again appointed to the position for another year by the board of trustees of the Home, at its March meeting, according to George Stiles, president of the board, and no change will be made. The appointment is yearly, it is understood.

COAL PRODUCTION LOW

Glouster, March 14.—Southern Ohio remains at the bottom of the list relative to coal production, federal government figures show. In a recent week, the 142 mines of the Hocking field produced only 77,000 tons of coal, while their possible production is estimated at 250,000 tons. Operators said the figures on coal production will go still lower before summer.

YESTERDAY'S JUNIOR PUZZLE ANSWER

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

One Wife on Approval

by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED
CYNTHIA LELAND'S husband, Jim, has gone to Honolulu shortly after their marriage, following a misunderstanding with his wife, and has taken his mother with him, leaving Cynthia to face the disapproval of her sister-in-law, LOUELLA, and all her world. CYNTHIA turns to CECILE MALCOLM, leader of the town's gayest set, and accepts the friendship of NOEL GARDNER, the town's black sheep, going with them to a mid-winter house party at Cecile's mountain cabin.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXVII—THE TOWN REALLY TALKS!

CYNTHIA could not sleep that night. It seemed incredible that her life could have taken such a turn. She was happier than she had ever been before when she thought of Noel and his love for her; a new contentment had come to her as she thought about him. She knew that she could be happy with him no matter how poor they were or under what conditions they lived.

And yet, there was Jim. She had married him, supposing that she loved him. It was only after he neglected her for his mother that she was unhappy. She had tried to fan her love into its former flame even after he had gone off to Honolulu hardly bothering to write her. She could not help feeling even yet that if his family had not interfered they might have got along together.

"But that's about what we'd have done—got along," she told herself. "We'd have been like so many married couples. We'd never have known the wonderful happiness that Noel and I could know."

She did not know what to do. She must tell Jim of her love for Noel, of course. After that he would have to decide what was to happen.

But if Cynthia was bewildered, the women who had so often gossiped over her affairs were not. They all knew exactly what ought to be done—the fact that they did not agree did not make any of them less sure about their own decisions. Cynthia's love for Noel would be no news for them; many of them had been predicting that the two would fall in love with each other ever since their first meeting.

That afternoon at Louella's they talked so fast and furiously about Louella's pretty sister-in-law that the bridge game suffered and finally had to be abandoned.

"My dear, I always knew that she and Jim wouldn't get along," declared one young matron. "She just isn't Jim's kind. Much too gay." This last in a tone of disgust, despite the fact that the young matron had herself been characterized as "very wild" until increasing avoirdupois decreased her charms and forced her into domesticity!

"I said that at the very first!" "Well, you know how it is when a girl just grows up, as they say she did, without any family. Brought up by various relatives, wasn't she?" contributed another.

"Yes. Not that that was her fault, of course! But she never appreciated Jim or his family; from the first she resented Madame Leland's efforts to break her in to the right way of doing things."

"And mother tried so hard," Louella put in. "Even went marketing with her—you remember? Why, we were all willing to do everything for Cynthia. You know how she was about not keeping engagements—said she forgot them! Day after day mother went to her house and saw to it that she was dressed and got to a bridge party or tea or whatever she was to go to—Cynthia'd go walking or just moon around with a book if she was left to herself. I never knew a bride who was more careless about the entertainments that were given for her!"

"And now this affair with Noel Gardner," put in the young matron again as Louella drifted away to another group. "I call it absolutely shameful. They say that she invested a lot of money in that subdivision of his; thought she'd make a lot more, I suppose. Or perhaps she did it because she was in love with him."

"She did it because Madame Leland had bought some stock in the sub-division while Jim was off on his honeymoon," exclaimed a girl who had taken no part in the conversation until then. "Madame Leland blamed Cynthia, somehow, because she'd bought the stock—just because Jim wasn't here to advise her. So Cynthia got Noel to buy it and then took it herself."

They talked fast and furiously.

"Well, she'll lose her money now," the young matron declared, not without satisfaction. "They say that land's quite worthless since the lots all around it have been sold for factories."

"And all the women who have been wishing Noel Gardner would pay some attention to them, and been disappointed, will be glad he's lost his money," commented the girl, maliciously. "I think it's screamingly funny the way everybody played for his favor when he came home from Europe, and then when he showed that he didn't give a whoop for any of the women they promptly began criticising him. I don't blame him for falling in love with Cynthia. And Jim Leland's such a stick that I don't blame her for losing her heart to Noel."

She sauntered away, leaving a group of embarrassed women behind her. More than one of them had hoped that Noel Gardner would attach himself to her when he first returned from abroad, and had been disappointed to find that he was willing to be polite and friendly, but nothing more.

But in a few moments they were talking again, speculating about the future. When would Jim Leland be back? What would he say when he heard that his wife had been snowed out in a deserted summer cottage for three days with Noel Gardner?

Tomorrow—Confidences.
